

Primed for Growth

Housing in Eaton Rapids is on the increase with the conversion of one of two woolen mills into upscale apartment living along the river. A second river front mill, built by Albert Kahn, is on the market with the intent to convert it into 200 condominium units. In addition, new housing starts in the surrounding townships continue.

Edgewater Apartments converted from woolen mill to gracious riverfront living.

The Horner Mill built by Albert Kahn is on the market. Albert Kahn Associates has prepared detailed drawings for development as upscale loft condominiums.

Additional office and commercial space, including the possible construction of a performance arts center, is included in the master plan for this development project.
