

Receptive community

The local business community and city government have invited Michigan State University's College of Landscape Architecture to work with community stakeholders to create a vision for downtown renovation and historical preservation.

Dan Wrubel, Michigan Optometrist of the Year in 2005 maintains his office on the west side of Main Street.

Petit's Hardware has served local residents for more than three generations on the east side of Main Street.

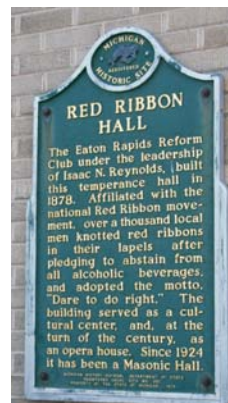

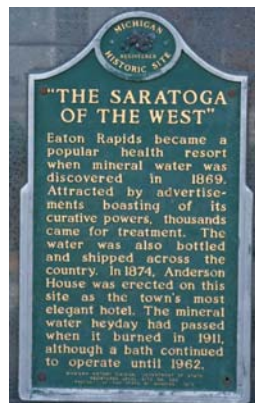

River walk view of Edgewater Apartments complex, which was formerly a wool mill.

Downtown Development Authority (DDA) urban renovation priority.

Eaton Rapids has been home to mineral baths, Millers premium ice cream and wool mills that produced blankets for the troops in WW2 and Spaulding baseball innards for America's pastime.

The Eaton Rapids Historical Society recently purchased the historic Red Ribbon Hall with help from the DDA.